Shared Decision Making

The Trust supports open shared decision-making conversations between patient and clinician. The reason why patient participation is so important is because it addresses the fundamental question - what matters to you?

When preparing for an appointment consider these questions –

- What are the risks and benefits of my treatment?
- What if I do nothing?
- Are there other treatments I can try?

For more information, please visit our Trust website at the following link - www.fhft.nhs.uk/your-visit/help-with-your-visit/shared-decision-making-sdm/

We would like to hear your opinion on shared decision making and a questionnaire is live here Shared Decision Making Patient Survey (office.com). Please note this is an optional survey.
