About this form

This application form is for Scotland's Redress Scheme.

Scotland's Redress Scheme is for survivors of historical child abuse in relevant care settings in Scotland. This scheme covers:

- physical abuse
- sexual abuse
- emotional abuse
- neglect

The purpose of the scheme is to acknowledge and provide recognition of the harm done by this abuse.

Getting started

While you are filling in your application, you can refer to the "Help to apply" guidance for further information.

If you need to speak to someone with questions about the form, there are case workers to support you.

A case worker works for the Scottish Government on behalf of Scotland's Redress Scheme. Your case worker will communicate with you throughout your application. They can help with questions about:

- how to complete an application form
- what documents to provide
- where to get support

You can also read more about the different people and organisations involved in Scotland's Redress Scheme in the "Help to apply" guidance.

Help completing the form and getting legal advice

You can ask someone to help you complete this form. This could be a:

- friend or family member
- someone you trust
- solicitor

Everyone who applies to Scotland's Redress Scheme will be allocated a case worker to help them through the application process. You can contact a case worker by:

- Telephone: 0808 175 0808 (freephone)
- International: +44 131 297 6500

Lines are open Monday to Thursday, from 10am to 4pm (except Scottish public holidays)

- Email: apply@redress-scheme.scot

Case workers can refer applicants to our dedicated redress support service. This offers practical assistance with applications as well as non-specialist emotional support.

The Redress Emotional Support Helpline provides listening ear support to those who need it while applying, or to those who are thinking about applying for redress. This is available on 0800 211 8403.

Getting legal advice

It is your choice and right to appoint a solicitor to support you through the application process.

Scotland's Redress Scheme offer to pay set legal fees to a solicitor. Solicitors can alternatively make their own fee arrangements with you. You should carefully read the terms of business they send you and clarify whether you will be asked to pay any fees.

Section 4: If you are nominating a beneficiary (optional)

You can choose to appoint one “nominated beneficiary” for your application.

A nominated beneficiary is a person of your choice. If you die during the application process, the nominated beneficiary may:

- be invited to complete the application process
- receive any financial redress in your place

If you have nominated a beneficiary, Redress Scotland will decide if that person can take over your application. In some cases they may decide it is not appropriate, for example if your application was missing important information.

If your nominated beneficiary is invited to continue your application, they will:

- be able to see the information you provided in your application
- need to provide further information about your application, in some cases
- receive your application decision
- receive any money you would have been entitled to
- be able to request a review of the application decision, if they choose to

They will also have to declare if they have any relevant convictions for serious criminal offences.

You can nominate a beneficiary or change your beneficiary at any time during your application process. Please contact your case worker to do this.

Your nominated beneficiary will only be contacted if the redress scheme is formally notified that you have passed away.

Section 5: Type of application

It is up to you to decide whether to apply for a fixed rate or individually assessed payment. This will depend on your circumstances but both applications may offer:

- a payment
- an apology from the Scottish Government and help to receive an apology from others
- emotional support

For both types of application you will need to:

- meet the eligibility criteria
- complete Part 1 of the application form
- provide a statement of abuse detailing what happened to you

The main difference in application types is that an individually assessed payment requires as much information as possible about the abuse you suffered. You will be asked to write a statement for all settings you were abused in.

For an individually assessed payment application you will also need to provide a document or documents that support your statement of abuse whereas for a fixed rate payment application you do not.

Q23 | At this time, do you want to apply for?

- A fixed rate payment of £10,000
- An individually assessed payment of up to £100,000

Section 6: Care settings you were living in when you were abused as a child in Scotland

Documents showing you were in care

You will need to provide a document, or documents, to show you were resident in a relevant care setting. You do not need to do this straight away.

If you are applying for a fixed rate payment, you should provide one document that shows you were living in a relevant care setting.

If you are applying for an individually assessed payment, you should provide documents that show you were in all of the care settings you listed above.

Q25 | How would you like to provide a document or documents showing you were in a relevant care setting?

- I have provided them with this form
- I need help to find them – I consent to a referral to the support service who will contact me directly.
- I will send them at a later date

Section 7: Factors that may impact your redress payment

This section has questions about relevant payments and relevant criminal convictions for serious offences. This information is used to see if:

- any deductions have to be made to your payment amount
- more information is needed to decide whether you can receive a payment

Payments

If you have already received a “relevant” payment related to your abuse, this will be deducted from your redress payment.

Only some types of payments are “relevant”. These include:

- Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority (CICA) payments related to your abuse
- court awarded damages or an out of court settlement related to your abuse in the relevant care setting
- Advance Payment Scheme payments
- previous payments from Scotland’s Redress Scheme
- previous payment in relation to ‘slopping out’ in prison

Q26 | Have you received a relevant payment?

- Yes
- No (continue to Q30)
- Not sure
(if you tick this a case worker will contact you)

If “Yes”, please provide details

Q27 | When did you get this payment?

Q28 | What organisation paid this to you?

This should only include the money you received after any legal fees were deducted.

Q29 | How much money did you receive?

You will need to disclose if you have certain types of criminal convictions for serious offences. This applies if you have:

- a criminal conviction for rape or murder
- a criminal conviction for a violent or sexual offence which has resulted in imprisonment of five years or more.

If you have a conviction for one of these offences, your case worker will let you know what additional information you need to provide. This information will be sent to Redress Scotland. They will decide if you are “precluded” from (or unable to receive) financial redress.

Q30 | Do you have a criminal conviction for one of these offences?

- Yes
- No
- Not sure

If you ticked “Yes” or “Not sure” a case worker will contact you for more information and to help you with next steps.
