The next section asks you to write your statement of abuse.

Section 2: Your statement of abuse

Please refer to page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance when filling in this form.

Please make sure that whatever way you provide your statement, you include all the information Redress Scotland needs to make a decision. You can find out more on page 35 of “Help to apply”.

You may find that writing this brings up feelings or memories. If you need support you can speak to a case worker who can refer you to further help:

- Telephone: 0808 175 0808 (freephone)
- International: +44 131 297 6500
Lines are open Monday to Thursday, from 10am to 4pm (except Scottish public holidays)
- Email: apply@redress-scheme.scot

Providing your statement of abuse

In Part 1, you will have provided information about any relevant care settings you were abused in.

In Part 3, you need to provide a statement about your abuse. You can choose how you want to provide your statement. You can complete Q1, Q2, Q3 and Q4. Or you can:

- submit a previous statement (for example, a copy of a statement given to the police)
- write your statement in another format that is better suited to you

How to complete this section

You may have been abused in one relevant care setting, or in several different ones.

For this part of the application form, please provide a statement about each care setting you were abused in.

For example, if you were abused in 3 relevant care settings, please provide 3 statements.

You can do this in any order that makes sense to you.

There are pages for 4 care settings included in this form. If you need more copies, you can:

- contact a case worker
- make a copy yourself
- print additional pages from mygov.scot/redress

Please remember:

- there are no wrong answers - if Redress Scotland needs more or different information, your case worker will get in touch with you and let you know
- do not worry about your spelling
- use as much or as little space as you need to give your information - you can continue on additional pages if you want to

Your statement for Care setting 1

Please read page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance before you begin.

In Part 1, you will have already provided information about the care settings you were abused in. By providing this information here, your case worker can join together the name of the care setting with your statement of abuse.

Q1 | What is the name or location of the relevant care setting you were abused in?

(For example, the name of the care home, or the city or region where you lived in foster care or while boarded out).

Foster Care Renfrewshire

Do not worry if you are uncertain about dates or time. Please provide your best estimate.

Q2 | When were you abused?

For example: a single date, an age, or an approximate time or time range.

1995

You do not have to provide names, if you cannot remember or do not feel comfortable doing so. If you do provide a name it will be passed to Police Scotland.

Q3 | Who was involved in your abuse?

For example: a member of staff, a peer or someone outside the care setting.

Elaine Whiteside (social worker)

The information you provide will be used by Redress Scotland to make a decision about your application. Redress Scotland will use the “Assessment framework” to help them do this, available on gov.scot. Please be aware that it contains graphic descriptions of abuse.

Q4 | On the next page, please provide as much information as you can about:

- the abuse you experienced while living in this care setting
- what life was like for you during this time
- how the people responsible for your care and welfare failed to carry out that duty (within or beyond your care setting)

You can continue on additional pages if you need to.

Please read page 36 of “Help to apply” to find out more about what information you may want to include.

Foster Care - Barrhead

I was taken away from my mum when I was nine years old because I had been abused by my stepdad and I couldn't stay at home anymore. I was placed into foster care in Barrhead. It was me and another boy called John who lived there. The foster carers had a daughter who was left to look after us whenever they went out on Friday nights.

I remember being young and a bit mischievous. Me and John used to collect half-smoked cigarettes and relight them. One day the foster carers' daughter smelt smoke coming from my bedroom and came in shouting. She was swearing at us and calling me a "bitch". I was terrified.

She then threw me outside into the dark in the pouring rain. I had no shoes or socks on and I remember standing there freezing cold, shivering and crying. I was banging on the door, screaming and begging to be let back in, but they completely ignored me. I remember shouting, "I'm just a child." I stood there wondering if anyone was ever going to let me back inside.

After that, I ran away because I couldn't cope with being there anymore. I just kept running, even across busy main roads, because I wanted to get as far away as I could. I ran to a phone box to call my mum. She told me I couldn't stay there and that I should phone the police, which I did. I felt scared, angry and completely let down. I couldn't understand how people who were supposed to care for vulnerable children could treat us like that. The police came and took me to Newfield Children's Home.

Your statement for Care setting 2

Newfield Assessment Centre was renamed Rowanlea Resource Centre.

When the police picked me up after I ran away from foster care, they took me to Newfield Children's Home, now known as Rowanlea. This was where I was told that I was "too much to handle" for foster care. I had only been taken away from my mum because I had been abused by my stepdad. I was a frightened, angry little girl, and I didn't know how to cope with everything that had happened to me.

If I answered the staff back or challenged them, they would force me to the ground. I remember three members of staff holding me down at the same time. Afterwards, I would be put in my room and not allowed out. I remember feeling completely powerless and humiliated. At Newfield, there was a boy called James Campbell, known as "Jamsie". He would make comments about my body. As I was going to get my breakfast, he would say things like, "You've got nice legs," and, "You've got nice boobs." I was only a young girl, and those comments made me feel embarrassed, uncomfortable and ashamed. Looking back now, I realise how vulnerable I was. After he made those comments, the staff would tell me to go back to my room and put on pyjama bottoms and a housecoat before I was allowed back out. When I first arrived, I didn't even have pyjamas, so I had to wear a tracksuit instead.

I always felt abandoned. The people who were supposed to protect and care for me never did. Instead of recognising that my behaviour was a cry for help after everything I had already been through, they would restrain me, lock me in my room, or move me somewhere else. Throughout my time in foster care and in the children's homes, not one person ever asked me how I was or whether I was okay. I felt completely abandoned and like nobody cared what was happening to me.

My experiences in care have had a lasting impact on my life. I now suffer from severe post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and ongoing mental health problems. I struggle to socialise with other people and have turned to substance misuse to try to cope. This was the time when I started self-harming. It became my way of coping with everything that had happened to me, and I still struggle with it today. Seeing blood and listening to music are the only things that help calm me when I become overwhelmed. Whenever something triggers memories of what my stepdad did to me, or what I experienced in care, I end up hurting myself. Everything that happened to me has affected every part of my life, and I still live with those consequences today.
