My first memories of being taken into care were when I was around 10 years old, when I was placed at Dr Guffery's, Edinburgh. From the moment I arrived, I felt terrified, emotionally overwhelmed, and completely alone. No one comforted me, no one explained anything, and no one tried to help me settle. I was a child who was already frightened, and I was left to cope on my own in an environment that very quickly became abusive.

The physical abuse started immediately. I was beaten black and blue on a regular basis, often for no reason at all. Staff would hit me with a belt, which caused cuts, welts, and marks all over my body. The pain was unbearable, but what stayed with me most was the fear and humiliation. I was punched by grown adults with such force that it would take my breath away. I genuinely feared for my life. I had never felt terror like this before.

The staff deliberately tried to turn children against one another, isolating us and making sure we felt we had no one to trust. I was a bed wetter, and instead of helping me, they punished me cruelly. I was woken early, publicly shamed in front of the whole care home, and sometimes forced into cold showers as punishment. I became terrified to go to bed at night, knowing what might happen to me.

Food was another form of control and abuse. We were forced to eat the same basic meals every night, and if I couldn't eat it or didn't like it, I was sent to my room hungry. I was often locked in my room and secluded, sometimes for long periods. They also stopped me from seeing my family at weekends, cutting off the only support I had. I learned very quickly that speaking up only made things worse. I saw what happened to me and to other children, and we all knew there was no escape. When we tried to run away, we were brought back and punished even more severely.

At night, there was a night watcher who smoked a pipe. We called him "Nighty." He would come into our rooms while we were in bed and sexually assault us. He would put his hands under the covers and touch our bodies. This was horrifying. I lived in constant fear, especially at night. Staff would also drag us to the showers, force us to strip naked, and watch us under the excuse of "helping" us wash. We were regularly called names, pointed out, humiliated, and made to feel worthless and unwanted.

Mr Duncan, Edward Trainor,

The information you provide will be used by Redress Scotland to make a decision about your application. Redress Scotland will use the “Assessment framework” to help them do this, available on gov.scot. Please be aware that it contains graphic descriptions of abuse.

Please read page 36 of “Help to apply” to find out more about what information you may want to include.

I was moved to Balgown Crew School, where I stayed from around 12 to 16 years old. The abuse there was even worse. From the moment I arrived, I was beaten. If I spoke, I was beaten. If I didn't speak, I was beaten. Violence was constant and unavoidable.

I clearly remember Mr Duncan. He had a wooden hand, which he used as a weapon. He would smack me across the head, causing bleeding, bruising, and concussion. I would feel dizzy and scream in pain, and he would laugh while I suffered. I also remember Edward Trainor, who seemed to enjoy hurting us. He would kick us hard in the back, knocking us to the floor while we curled up in pain. He was an adult, and we were children. We had no hope and no protection. We were treated like punch bags.

Starvation was used regularly as punishment. Many nights I was locked in my room in complete darkness with no food. We were woken extremely early and forced to sit in total silence for hours without breakfast, only later being "allowed" to eat. Older boys were encouraged to torment and abuse us, and staff allowed it to happen. I was bullied daily, forced to do things, and constantly terrified. When I ran away, I was brought straight back to Mr Duncan, who would beat me again and use the belt as punishment.

There was also another male staff member who would come into our rooms at night and sexually abuse us. He would touch us and try to force us to touch him. We were made to comply out of fear. I lived in constant terror of both the staff and the older children. I was regularly restrained with extreme force, dragged around, bullied, and called names like "bastard" and told I was unwanted. Contact with my family was stopped again, leaving me completely isolated.

Throughout my entire time in care, I was physically beaten, sexually assaulted, mentally tormented, humiliated, starved, isolated, and treated as if I had no value as a human being. This abuse was not a one-off — it was constant, ongoing, and relentless during the most important developmental years of my life.

The impact of this abuse has been devastating and lifelong. At the time, I lived in fear every day, constantly on edge, never feeling safe, never knowing when the next beating or assault would happen. Now, as an adult, I suffer from severe PTSD, anxiety, and depression. I am on medication, but I still struggle daily. I find it extremely difficult to leave the house, to trust people, or to form and maintain relationships. My life has been deeply affected — relationships have broken down, my confidence has been destroyed, and I feel that my opportunities and future were taken from me.

What happened to me in care has completely altered the course of my life. I did not fail — I was failed. The abuse I endured has left permanent emotional, psychological, and physical scars that I continue to live with every day.
