Providing your statement of abuse

In Part 1, you will have provided information about any relevant care settings you were abused in.

In Part 3, you need to provide a statement about your abuse. You can choose how you want to provide your statement. You can complete Q1, Q2, Q3 and Q4. Or you can:

- submit a previous statement (for example, a copy of a statement given to the police)
- write your statement in another format that is better suited to you

How to complete this section

You may have been abused in one relevant care setting, or in several different ones.

For this part of the application form, please provide a statement about each care setting you were abused in.

For example, if you were abused in 3 relevant care settings, please provide 3 statements.

You can do this in any order that makes sense to you.

There are pages for 4 care settings included in this form. If you need more copies, you can:

- contact a case worker
- make a copy yourself
- print additional pages from mygov.scot/redress

Please remember:

- there are no wrong answers - if Redress Scotland needs more or different information, your case worker will get in touch with you and let you know
- do not worry about your spelling
- use as much or as little space as you need to give your information - you can continue on additional pages if you want to

Your statement for Care setting 1

Please read page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance before you begin.

In Part 1, you will have already provided information about the care settings you were abused in. By providing this information here, your case worker can join together the name of the care setting with your statement of abuse.

Q1 | What is the name or location of the relevant care setting you were abused in?

(For example, the name of the care home, or the city or region where you lived in foster care or while boarded out).

Lerwick Community Council

Do not worry if you are uncertain about dates or time. Please provide your best estimate.

Q2 | When were you abused?

For example: a single date, an age, or an approximate time or time range.

1976

You do not have to provide names, if you cannot remember or do not feel comfortable doing so. If you do provide a name it will be passed to Police Scotland.

Q3 | Who was involved in your abuse?

For example: a member of staff, a peer or someone outside the care setting.

The information you provide will be used by Redress Scotland to make a decision about your application. Redress Scotland will use the “Assessment framework” to help them do this, available on gov.scot. Please be aware that it contains graphic descriptions of abuse.

Q4 | On the next page, please provide as much information as you can about:

- the abuse you experienced while living in this care setting
- what life was like for you during this time
- how the people responsible for your care and welfare failed to carry out that duty (within or beyond your care setting)

You can continue on additional pages if you need to.

Please read page 36 of “Help to apply” to find out more about what information you may want to include.

I was living with my parents when I was abused by Henry A budge, born 18/02/24 when I was five years old, and the abuse with other of my parents/friends happened multiple times after then when I was seven years old when everything in my life shifted for the first time. The abuse at home had become impossible to ignore, and eventually I was moved into a foster home. For the first time, I felt a sense of safety, a feeling I didn't fully understand because it was so unfamiliar. I remember the quiet, the predictability, the absence of fear. It was the closest thing to peace I had ever known. But that safety didn't last. This is where I was failed by the system and sent back to my parents' home, the cycle of abuse began again, almost as if it had been waiting for me to return.

I used to find myself waking up naked in bed with strangers/friends of my parents on a lot of occasions, The person in question later got arrested and charged for sexual abuse against another child,

Daily life became a routine of fear and humiliation. My parents and their friends treated me as if I were something to ridicule rather than a child who needed care. They bullied me constantly, using words that cut deeply and actions that left me feeling small and powerless. The physical abuse came without warning—slaps, hits, anything they felt like doing in the moment. The verbal abuse was just as painful. They called me names that no child should ever hear, and over time I started to believe the things they said about me. But the truth is, the damage had started even earlier. When I was five or six, my parents often held parties that filled the house with strangers. There were always unfamiliar men around, and I never felt safe. I remember waking up confused and frightened, finding people I didn't know near me or in my space, and feeling exposed and unprotected. I didn't have the words back then to understand what was happening, only the overwhelming sense that something was terribly wrong. Those moments left a mark on me long before I could make sense of them.

Still, the most constant and painful harm came from my parents themselves. Their anger, their neglect, their cruelty—it shaped my childhood in ways I'm still trying to untangle. I learned to stay quiet, to shrink myself, to anticipate danger even in silence. I grew up believing that love was something meant for other children, not for me.

Looking back now, I can see how much that child needed safety, compassion, and someone to protect them. The social care system completely failed me by placing me back with my parents. It should have been the authorities role to keep me safe instead I survived things no child should ever face. Telling my story now is a way of reclaiming the voice that was taken from me, and acknowledging the strength it took just to keep going.
