My earliest memories are of fear and confusion. I was sent to Balicon, where I experienced severe mental abuse from the staff. I was constantly threatened with being kept over the weekend, refused permission to go home, locked behind doors, and deliberately separated from my family. I was subjected to relentless name-calling, cruel words, and frequent physical restraint by staff. Certain teachers, particularly a staff member named Greene, bullied me daily. From the very beginning of my placement, I was made to feel powerless and unsafe.

Your statement for Care setting 2 continued

After a year at Balicon, I was transferred back home and then placed into Kibil. The abuse there intensified. I was downgraded, blackmailed, and left with no means of escape. Staff routinely used restraint as an excuse to physically harm me, leaving bruises and injuries on my body. I had no choice but to endure this in silence. My sense of trust and safety was completely eroded.

Subsequently, I was moved to Bellfield, where the environment was even more traumatic. While there, I witnessed two staff members, one named O'Malley, engaging in sexual acts on another child in care. I was threatened not to tell anyone, given cigarettes, and coerced into Spinning around around fifteen times as a form of intimidation and control and lone memory I smacked my face into a wall and was sent to hospital, I felt increasingly singled out and alienated from the other children, likely because of what I had witnessed. My experience at Bellfield was further compounded by an accident caused by a metal goalpost that had been left unattended. The injury required treatment at Glasgow Hospital, and I still carry a permanent scar to this day. This incident highlighted the neglect and lack of care that pervaded the facility.

Eventually, I was moved to Devons Vale for what was meant to be a three-week assessment. Instead, I was effectively lost in the system and left there for over a year. During this time, I endured ongoing mental and physical abuse. Staff regularly degraded me, made me feel small, and prevented me from seeing my family. I was tormented daily, and the environment left me feeling isolated, frightened, and powerless. The cumulative effect of the abuse I suffered in multiple care homes has had a profoundly negative impact on my life, affecting my mental health, self-esteem, and ability to form trusting relationships.

Looking back, the pattern of abuse, neglect, and coercion I endured throughout my time in care was systematic and deeply damaging. From Balicon to Devons Vale, I experienced repeated mental, emotional, and physical abuse. I was denied safety, dignity, and the basic rights every child deserves. The lasting consequences of these experiences continue to affect me, shaping my life in ways that remain challenging and painful to this day.
