When I turned 12, I was transferred to Larchgrove in Glasgow. There were two older boys, aged 15 and 16, who were much bigger than me and attempted to rape me on two occasions. They tried to pull me into the toilets and threatened me with their intentions. The guards were aware of what was happening but did nothing to intervene. I picked up a pool cue to protect myself. They contacted my parents and placed all the blame on me, but my parents did not believe them. I was there for three weeks initially and then released due to lack of evidence against me.

At 14, I returned to the same facility for another three weeks. Just when I thought things couldn't get any worse, they approached me with renewed aggression, as if they had been waiting for this moment. The guards acted like monsters. One of them threatened to take me to a room, and I warned him that I would bite him if he attempted to abuse me. I was struck multiple times as I walked past them, punched, kicked, and slapped. I was only allowed cold showers and was deprived of food, often missing dinner because I was isolated in a room. They manipulated and degraded me, telling me I was going to hell and would never see my family again, laughing at my suffering.

After this, I was moved to St Andrews, which had a mix of good people and monsters. There was no privacy in the showers; there were no doors, and they would just stand and watch us. One guard would strike his keys against my back and laugh, attempting to intimidate me. When I was about to leave, they forced me to strip completely and had the boys pour oil on my genitals. I also saw this happen to several others. There was another building in the facility. I was often bullied while in line, frequently taken from Douglas to Shandon by a staff member named Bomber, who would yank my hair and slam my head against a wall while threatening me with abuse. They would taunt, 'You think this is bad? You want real stuff?' Froggy was another monster; he would revoke all my privileges. He would make me find my own way home on Saturdays or take away my entire weekend, denying me leave. At times, I would fast and rebel by refusing to eat because I was traumatized.

being sent to Longriggend remand centre, where I witnessed horrific abuse. They would pit everyone against each other and watch as slashing and attacks took place. I suffer from PTSD and anxiety due to the trauma I've experienced; I have flashbacks that never leave me, and on some days, it feels like I am reliving it. I have tried to end my life because of the trauma; some days, it just overwhelms me and breaks me down.
