In Nazareth House, I was forced by the nuns to look at the body of a dead nun. This was something I did not understand at the time, and it frightened and distressed me deeply. It is something that has stayed with me ever since and continues to affect me.

While I was there, I was bullied, beaten, and tormented every single day. The nuns would pull my hair and drag me down the corridors. I was constantly called names and made to feel unwanted. Every day felt horrifying, and as I got older, the fear and distress only grew stronger. I lived in constant anxiety, not knowing what would happen to me next.

They caused me a lot of physical pain, and this had a serious effect on my mental health. I was suffering badly, both physically and emotionally, but no one cared for me or showed me any kindness. I felt completely alone and abandoned.

From a very young age, I was passed around from place to place, and because of this, I struggle to remember everywhere I was sent. What I do know is that throughout my entire childhood, I was failed by the people who were supposed to care for me. I will never forget my time in Nazareth House because of the trauma I experienced there.

They would pick on me because of my health problems. Instead of helping me, they used it against me. I was forced to eat cold, stale food that I did not like, but I would still eat it because I was afraid of the punishments if I refused. I lived in fear of what would happen if I did not comply.

She has mentioned a children's respite / holiday home run by the Catholic church called Langbank. It was here she was sent to and forced to work in the laundry room age 14 from Nazareth house in Aberdeen.

At the time, I could not cope with what I was going through. I did not understand my own behaviour or why I struggled the way I did. I now know that I had ADHD, but back then, no one recognised it or helped me. Instead, I was singled out, made to feel different, and deliberately left out. This made me feel isolated, confused, and even more vulnerable.

The impact of everything I experienced has followed me throughout my life. I have struggled to maintain relationships, and I have found it difficult to express love and affection, even to my own children. I struggle to show emotions and to trust people. The trauma I went through has affected my ability to connect with others and build normal, healthy relationships.

This has had a devastating effect on my life. The experiences I went through as a child have stayed with me, shaping how I think, feel, and live. I continue to suffer because of it, and it has had a lasting and damaging impact on my mental health, my relationships, and my overall quality of life.

In this place, the abuse continued. I was often locked in cupboards and locked in my room for long periods of time. I was deprived of food and left suffering, both physically and emotionally. I felt neglected, hungry, and scared, with no one there to care for me or protect me.

I was beaten regularly by staff, and I was also attacked by other children. The staff would stand and watch this happen and do nothing to stop it. This made me feel completely helpless, as there was no one I could turn to for safety or support.

This was also the place where they stopped all family visits. After my mum passed away, I felt completely alone, and instead of supporting me, they made me feel like no one wanted me. They would say things to me to reinforce that feeling, which caused me deep emotional pain and made my grief even harder to cope with.

They would force me to eat food that I did not like, and if I refused, they would not provide anything else. I felt like I had no choice and no control over anything. The staff would call me names and repeatedly tell me that no one wanted me. This had a severe impact on my self-worth and how I saw myself.

I was suffering very badly with my mental health during this time. There were many occasions where I was locked in my room for long periods, and sometimes I was made to stand in corridors at night as a punishment, or locked in cupboards. These punishments were frightening and degrading, and they made me feel completely worthless.

In this place, I felt very different from the other children because of how I was treated. I was singled out and made to feel like I did not belong. They made me constantly aware that I was "different" because of my issues, and they used that against me daily. This caused me to feel isolated, ashamed, and confused about myself.

From a very young age, I was moved between different care homes, and I do not remember ever feeling properly looked after or cared for. I carry very bad memories from this time, and I will never forget the abuse and the way I was treated. It has had a lasting impact on my entire adult life.

At the age of 14, I was made to work in the laundry room without being paid. I was forced to do tasks I did not want to do, and if I refused, I would be punished and beaten. I had no choice and no voice in anything that was happening to me.

As a result of everything I went through, I now struggle badly with trusting people and coping with everyday activities. I find it very difficult to build relationships or to trust others. I also struggle to show love and affection, even to my own children. I have bottled all of this up for most of my life, and it has affected me deeply.

I feel that I have suffered throughout my entire life because of the treatment I received, not only from the staff but also from those who were responsible for my care, including social workers. The experiences I went through have had a devastating and lasting impact on me, and I believe they have ruined my life.
