While I was in Wellington farm the staff would be violent towards me, this was from both the day and the night staff. They would slap, punch and kick me and while they were doing this, they would call me derogatory names and appeared to enjoy it. I would be excessively restrained and thrown into my room. I would be whipped with belt and other objects that were lying about such as deodorant cans, this could be anywhere on the body. There were occasions where I would be forced to stand outside in adverse weather conditions, even the snow. I would witness the same treatment towards other boys in here on a regular basis, it would really depend on which staff members were on.

I used to wet the bed while I was in here and for this I would be humiliated and shamed, I was then thrown into a freezing cold shower as a punishment. I would run away on a few occasions and there would be occasions police would catch me before I got to my house but sometimes, they would be there waiting on me. The police could be heavy handed with me and I would be physically hurt off them when I was being returned to Wellington Farm. When I was returned, I would be beaten by the staff and then locked in my room in isolation for days.

There was a culture of bullying among the residents which the staff were aware of. The majority of the staff would just turn a blind eye to it or even encourage it. There was a small number of staff who were nice and would intervene if it was needed.

When I was going to get washed I would have to stand in line naked waiting to be washed with other boys, so I never had privacy all the time.

The night staff would usually come into my room at night; they would go into all the rooms to check on us and make sure we were all sleeping. There was one staff member called Alan who came into my room and was sexually inappropriate towards me, he would come in and touch me. This would happen every now and again when he was on shift. This is something that I struggle to think and talk about till this day.

There was another staff who worked during the day, he used to take us all swimming, and he would be inappropriately handsy.

If I had been misbehaving in their eyes or if I wet the bed, I would have my weekend leave to visit my family denied. I spent this time being separated from them and my siblings and missed out a lot in each other's lives while I was away here. When I did return from my leave I would be stripped and searched invasively.

My experiences in care have had an impact on my mental health throughout my life. I suffer from flashbacks and nightmares till this day. The relationships and friendships with others in my life has been affected due to my trust issues.
