When I was around five or six years old, I was under the care of Paisley Local Authority in Renfrewshire and placed in Quarrier Homes. I had already been in and out of care a few times by then. During that period, I experienced a lot of abuse from a man and a woman. There was also sexual abuse, where they forced the children—including me and my brother—to take part in acts no child should ever be exposed to. If we refused, we were punished. I remember witnessing what happened to my brother as well, and feeling terrified and helpless.

At the same time, my brother and I were placed in foster care, but even there we weren't safe. We were abused again, and eventually we ran away because we didn't know what else to do. We were just children trying to escape harm.

When I was older, I came under East Lothian Council and was sent to Time Park School. I was around 13 or 14 years old. During that time, I experienced sexual abuse from male members of staff. Because of everything I had already gone through when I was younger, this was extremely distressing. I tried to report what was happening, but the staff ignored me. They told me they didn't believe me, and that made me feel completely dismissed and unprotected.

There was also an incident in Blantyre where a member of staff scrubbed my hand so hard that it started bleeding. It was painful and humiliating, and it reinforced the feeling that I had no control over how I was treated.

By the time I left care at 15 years old, I had already been through years of trauma. I have been on medication ever since.
