Section 1: Personal details

This information will be used to join together Part 1 and Part 3 of your application forms.

Name

Thomas Mcdade

Date of birth

Day Month Year

The next section asks you to write your statement of abuse.

Section 2: Your statement of abuse

Please refer to page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance when filling in this form.

Please make sure that whatever way you provide your statement, you include all the information Redress Scotland needs to make a decision. You can find out more on page 35 of “Help to apply”.

You may find that writing this brings up feelings or memories. If you need support you can speak to a case worker who can refer you to further help:

- Telephone: 0808 175 0808 (freephone)
- International: +44 131 297 6500
Lines are open Monday to Thursday, from 10am to 4pm (except Scottish public holidays)
- Email: apply@redress-scheme.scot

Providing your statement of abuse

In Part 1, you will have provided information about any relevant care settings you were abused in.

In Part 3, you need to provide a statement about your abuse. You can choose how you want to provide your statement. You can complete Q1, Q2, Q3 and Q4. Or you can:

- submit a previous statement (for example, a copy of a statement given to the police)
- write your statement in another format that is better suited to you

How to complete this section

You may have been abused in one relevant care setting, or in several different ones.

For this part of the application form, please provide a statement about each care setting you were abused in.

For example, if you were abused in 3 relevant care settings, please provide 3 statements.

You can do this in any order that makes sense to you.

There are pages for 4 care settings included in this form. If you need more copies, you can:

- contact a case worker
- make a copy yourself
- print additional pages from mygov.scot/redress

Please remember:

- there are no wrong answers - if Redress Scotland needs more or different information, your case worker will get in touch with you and let you know
- do not worry about your spelling
- use as much or as little space as you need to give your information - you can continue on additional pages if you want to

Your statement for Care setting 1

Please read page 32 of the “Help to apply” guidance before you begin.

In Part 1, you will have already provided information about the care settings you were abused in. By providing this information here, your case worker can join together the name of the care setting with your statement of abuse.

Q1 | What is the name or location of the relevant care setting you were abused in?

(For example, the name of the care home, or the city or region where you lived in foster care or while boarded out).

TEMPLE DEAN

Do not worry if you are uncertain about dates or time. Please provide your best estimate.

Q2 | When were you abused?

For example: a single date, an age, or an approximate time or time range.

1954-1958

You do not have to provide names, if you cannot remember or do not feel comfortable doing so. If you do provide a name it will be passed to Police Scotland.

Q3 | Who was involved in your abuse?

For example: a member of staff, a peer or someone outside the care setting.

The information you provide will be used by Redress Scotland to make a decision about your application. Redress Scotland will use the “Assessment framework” to help them do this, available on gov.scot. Please be aware that it contains graphic descriptions of abuse.

Q4 | On the next page, please provide as much information as you can about:

- the abuse you experienced while living in this care setting
- what life was like for you during this time
- how the people responsible for your care and welfare failed to carry out that duty (within or beyond your care setting)

You can continue on additional pages if you need to.

Please read page 36 of “Help to apply” to find out more about what information you may want to include.

I still remember the day I was taken to Temple Dean in Haddington. They told me it would be for four years, a place where I'd be looked after, educated, kept safe. Instead, it became one of the darkest chapters of my life. From the moment I walked through those doors, I felt the atmosphere shift—cold, sharp, and watchful. It was supposed to be an all girls school, but they kept a tiny room for boys, tucked away like an afterthought. I ended up there, and it felt like being hidden, forgotten, and singled out all at once.

The staff weren't caregivers. They were bullies with authority. They moved through the halls with a kind of cruel confidence, as if hurting children was part of their job description. They would hit, kick, shove, and bark orders with a hatred I couldn't understand. I was just a kid, but they treated me like I was something they needed to break.

One memory still burns in my mind. I'd been beaten up—nothing new by then—but that day they decided to "teach me a lesson." A staff member forced a tablespoon of mustard into my mouth. It wasn't about punishment; it was about humiliation. I can still feel the sting of it, the way they watched me struggle, almost amused. Moments like that made me feel small, powerless, and completely alone.

What made it worse was knowing why they targeted me. I was Catholic. That was enough for them to single me out, to treat me differently, to make me feel like I didn't belong. They never said it outright, but I saw it in their eyes and heard it in their tone. Every harsh word, every shove, every punishment carried that same message: you are other.

Those four years felt endless. I learned to stay quiet, to shrink myself, to anticipate their moods. I learned how to survive, even when survival felt like too much to ask. Looking back now, I can see how wrong it all was—how no child should ever be treated that way, how those adults abused their power and shattered trust that should have been sacred.

But I also see something else: I made it out. I carried the weight, but I didn't let it crush me. And telling the story now is part of taking that power back.
