While living in larger hostel settings and children's homes, I was subjected to sustained and severe abuse by staff members who were meant to care for and protect me. Instead of safety, these places became environments of fear, humiliation, and violence. The abuse I experienced caused deep psychological trauma and lasting physical harm that continues to affect me into adulthood.

At the larger hostel, staff regularly bullied and humiliated me. On one particularly distressing occasion, staff forced me into bed and deliberately turned the heating on to an excessive level. They mocked and laughed at me as I began to sweat heavily and become visibly uncomfortable and distressed. I felt trapped, powerless, and terrified. This behavior was not accidental or isolated; it was deliberate emotional abuse carried out by people in positions of authority. Rather than offering care or reassurance, staff used their power to degrade me, leaving me feeling worthless and afraid.

At Carluke Children's Home (39 Station Rd, Carluke ML8 5AD), the abuse became more extreme. Staff members were often drunk while on duty, creating a chaotic and unsafe environment. I was subjected to verbal abuse and repeated physical assaults. I was kicked repeatedly, leaving bruises across my body. Over time, these attacks resulted in scars that remain visible today. My arms, legs, and torso were frequently marked with bruising, and no one intervened to protect me. The violence I endured caused immense fear and trauma and made me constantly anxious about when the next attack would happen.

The abuse caused me to wet the bed, something I had no control over due to extreme stress and fear. Instead of receiving understanding or help, staff responded with further cruelty and humiliation. I was shouted at, threatened, and physically punished for something that was a direct result of the abuse they inflicted. This only deepened my trauma and reinforced feelings of shame and helplessness.

At the Hamilton Home (Candymill Ln, Hamilton ML3 0FD), the abuse continued. I was beaten for wetting the bed, despite the fact that it was clearly linked to ongoing trauma. These beatings added to the injuries already on my body, increasing the number of bruises and scars I carried. I lived in constant fear, knowing that I could be hurt at any moment. There was no sense of safety, care, or protection—only punishment and violence.

As a result of the prolonged abuse across these care homes, I suffered major and lasting trauma. I continued to wet the bed until the age of 17, directly due to untreated psychological harm. The physical abuse left me with scars across my body, and the emotional abuse severely affected my confidence, mental health, and ability to trust others. These experiences represent a profound failure of care and have left me with lifelong emotional and physical scars.
