Due to the very short period of Sharon's attendance prior to her annual school report last session little specific detail could be recorded.

Sharon is having a great deal of difficulty with certain aspects of her school work and a measure of difficulty with all other skills areas.

Undoubtedly, this stems both from lack of concentration and motivation. Although her performance is at a very low level I feel sure it could be improved as she is not quite as backward as she would have us believe.

Having said that, Sharon requires specific remedial attention which we cannot really provide within our current staffing resources.

Closer liaison between Carolina House and the school would, I am sure, benefit the child.

31st March, 1981

Dear Mr Nowak,

Sharon Andrews. (10.7.69)

Thank you for bringing Sharon to my attention. You referred her because of her poor concentration and motivation in school work.

Following further discussion with yourself, Mr Walker of Carolina House and Miss Anderson, her class teacher, the following conclusions became apparent.

Sharon's educational development has over the long term, been significantly impaired by her social experience and the very frequent changes of school associated with that experience. She is, therefore, primarily educationally disadvantaged and requires a curriculum and method which is appropriate to her levels of development. I am sure this is being achieved in so far as it can be without the aid of a Remedial Specialist teacher.

More central to coming to understand Sharon's current educational experience is the rather traumatic and unsettling experience that she and her siblings are faced with as a result of her grandmother's actions and as a result of the dearth of appropriate long-term care provision for a child of this age. I know that you are aware of these important social background factors.

I have suggested to yourself and Mr Walker that the co-operation and goodwill that you both practice is more likely to be effectively harnessed if your liaison can be formalised or regularised by holding weekly meetings to exchange information and compare notes on this educationally and socially vulnerable group of children.

In the meantime, as I feel unable to contribute further to Sharon's assessment or management I would like to discharge her case. Her transition to secondary school should be discussed with the Guidance and Remedial staff.

Yours sincerely,

Bryan Kirkaldy

3 APR 1981

Dear Mr Middleton,

I had a valuable interview yesterday with Jim Howden in connection with the study I have been doing in Dundee focussing on the needs of primary school children. The school in which I have been based is Glebelands and I had anticipated that all the children known to the social work department would fall within the ambit of Area 3. There is one girl, however, who I find is known to Area 1 so I am writing to ask whether you will allow me to talk to yourself or the relevant social worker about the work that has been done for this girl and the plans made for her future.*

Authority to assist me with my study was sent to area controllers by the Director of Social Work in a memorandum SJM/JE/AED/7/4/1 of 1st September 1980.

I am coming through to Dundee on Tuesday, 7th April and I have arranged to meet Pat Gethins at 10.30 and Ian McNeill, divisional principal educational psychologist, during the afternoon. It would be very convenient for me if I could meet you or the social worker concerned between these two appointments, perhaps at 12 noon. Could you possibly let me/by telephone whether this would be possible?

/know

Sincerely,

Nigel Bruce

Sharon has settled in reasonably well at Morgan.
Her attendance is almost perfect and she is always punctual and very neat and tidy.

Sharon has limited academic ability. She receives remedial help in Maths and English. Her overall average is 35%

Most class teachers feel she could put more effort into her work but she tends to be lazy and is unable to concentrate for any length of time.

She is keen and good at swimming.

Dundee, DD1 3AW.

Dear Mr. Middleton,

Sharon Andrews (d.o.b. 10. 7.69)

I reply to your enquiry about the above-named pupil of this school.

General comment on Sharon must be favourable. Well behaved and co-operative, she is an acceptable pupil. She is always neat and tidy in appearance. She arrives on time for school, and her attendance has been regular.

Her main extra-curricular interest is swimming.

Where there is room for improvement, however, is in her attitude to her school work. Admittedly, she is limited academically and in need of remedial support in English and Mathematics. But certain of her teachers think that she could make a greater effort to improve her performance.

For reference, a copy of a report issued last May is enclosed.

Yours sincerely,

J.T. Bewick,
Rector.

Mr. H. Gaston, " " "
Ms. M. Black, " " "
Mr. A. Nicoll, " " " (Chairman)

Comments: Copies of a report on the children, prepared by Carolina House staff, were distributed to members of the meeting.
Summary of Discussion + Goals/Tasks for the Future (Goals to be listed separately)

Miss Gordon reported that specific adverts had been placed in the local press for foster parents, and that, though seven applications had been received, none of those were likely to have a positive result. Another advert. this time for two boys, was to be placed in the local press on 10.11.82, and it was possible this might bring a response from couples who would be interested in the children.

The question as to whether David should still be considered for fostering was raised, and it was felt he would probably want to go to his grandmother, Mrs. Ballantyne, as soon as he left school. Mention was made of the fact that Sharon had said she would consider being fostered on her own, though it was recognised that the children change their minds frequently regarding fostering.

As no likely couples apply in the programme mentioned by Miss Gordon, it was felt that specific adverts should again be placed in the local press seeking foster placements for the children. As the children can be difficult to cope with, additional allowances should be requested for any foster parent taking over the care of one, or all, of them.

Decisions Taken:

- 1) A submission to assume Parental Rights to be made to the Depute Director (Fieldwork) under Section 16(1)(a)(v) of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 - (persistently failing to discharge the obligations of a parent).
- 2) Ms. Black to arrange for photographs to be taken of the children, and given to Miss Gordon for use in any future fostering programme.
- 3) If foster parents are found for any of the children, additional allowances are to be requested for them.
- 4) cont'd over.....

Client Copy

- 4) Miss Gordon to inform Ms. Black of any possible suitable couples who respond to the fostering adverts which appear on 10.11.82.

After the decisions had been taken, the children, who had asked to attend the review, were brought in. Miss Gordon and Ms. Black told them that there had been no suitable response to individual adverts for foster placements for the children, and that attempts to find foster placements would continue. David said he wished to stay in Carolina House, and Helen said she wished to remain with David. Sharon said she would consider a foster placement, even outside the town.

Review at Carolina House on 9.11.82

At the above review, it was felt that professional foster parents would have been the best resource in this particular case. As there are no professional foster parents available, additional allowances are to be requested, if suitable foster parents are found.

① I am writing to you to let you know that I don't like your attitude of implying that my mother is a liar. I was back home here on the Monday I have no intentions of coming back for a long time as I can't afford to at the moment. I will be taking legal action in this matter. I think that in the kids interest that they will be better off where they are at the moment, but would like it if its on the same basis as before, I still think the arrangement with my mother should still stand. I don't like it when my mother and my kids should suffer because of me. I would therefore be obliged if you could write to me regarding this letter.

Yours sincerely
Mrs. J Andrews.

Dear Mrs Black

I received your letter on 22 November and I am grieved at this situation regarding the children.

May I stress that you have put me in an awkward position, you see Mrs Black I did not think you would ~~have~~ kept the children from me just because of their Mother being here in Dundee as I was shocked when I saw her in Carolina house as David phone his Aunt Margaret for me to come down as he was crying and so upset so his one of staff on the phone and said that their Mother had seen them at school which I did not know as much to my anger I said to her that I will see her about it so I was shocked when I saw her and I gave her a piece of mind

So Mrs Black May I add that I am deeply sorry that I can't see any sense in me coming to the meeting and I sincerely hope with your kind approval and consideration that this letter gives you my deepest concern ^{and} anxiety for the children. I trust that you will find in this letter my love and care for the children.

FAMILY CIRCUMSTANCES.

The children's mother continues to live in Manchester occasionally making visits to Dundee. She telephones the children from time to time but she seems to telephone from pubs and is usually under the influence of drink. On the rare occasions that she has visited the children she has made them promises about future contact which she has not kept. She last visited in November when the staff at Carolina House made it clear that future contact should be arranged through Social Work Department. Again she promised them that she would contact the Department before returning to Manchester but again let them down. Their grandmother Mrs. Markie, who now calls herself Miss Ballantyne denies any knowledge of her daughter's whereabouts or plans but in reality seems to know of her daughter's plans. Following Mrs. Andrew's last visit, which upset and unsettled the children I asked Miss Ballantyne to meet with myself and the key worker in Carolina. So far Miss Ballantyne has refused to meet with us, despite assurances that our aim is to avoid further upset to the children by their mother arriving unexpectedly, making promises she does not keep and then returning to Manchester. I think it is very likely that she keeps in touch with Mrs. Andrews and could encourage her to contact Social Work Department and this partly accounts for her reluctance to meet with us. As a result the children no longer stay overnight with their grandmother but visit her during the weekend.

Miss Ballantyne has always received encouragement from Carolina House and myself to visit the children, have a meal with them and spend time there with them. She has rarely taken up this offer and often seems to undermine efforts to help the children settle, and still leads the children to believe that she is willing to have them live with her. Her attitude towards fostering has not been supportive.

Mr. Andrews has very little contact with his children and clearly has no intention of making any commitments regarding their future care.

CONCLUSION.

It is unlikely that we will find foster parents for these children, and as there seems little likelihood of either parent or their grandmother being able to care for them, they are likely to remain in Carolina House for some time. I therefore recommend that the Supervision Orders continue without variation.

Given that the children have been in care continually since March 1980 the Social Work Department is intending to make application for the Assumption of Parental Rights.

Helen Andrews	d.o.b.	21.8.68	" " " "
Sharon Andrews	d.o.b.	10.7.69	attends Morgan Academy

David, Helen and Sharon last appeared at a Hearing on 3.3.82, when their Supervision Orders were continued without variation. The children continue to reside in Carolina House, and all three have been more accepting of their living situation.

DAVID.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

SHARON.

Sharon presents as a cheery, chatty girl but she too can be moody, often behaving childishly in her attempts to gain attention. She is more openly emotional than Helen and David but appears less committed to her family. Consequently she has been the most eager to consider fostering although all three were keen to be involved in a fostering campaign advertisement. Unfortunately to date no suitable foster parents have been found.

Dear Mrs. Andrews,

Thank you for your letter regarding your three children. I had hoped to see you on your last trip to Dundee as I understand you promised the children that you would contact me before going home to Manchester. They were all rather disappointed that you did not carry out your promise.

I gather from your letter that you feel the arrangement for the children to stay overnight with their grandmother from time to time should continue. Several times I have invited Miss Ballantyne to meet with myself and one of the staff from Carolina House to discuss future visits, but she has so far refused to meet us either at Carolina House or her home.

As you are obviously in regular contact with your mother perhaps you could encourage her to meet with us regarding the children. I understand there is some possibility of you coming to Dundee in April and I would find it useful to discuss the situation with you further.

Yours sincerely,

The Andrews family have been known to Social Work Department since July 1972. The R.S.P.C.C. were involved between 1969 and 1974 on a number of occasions either because of the mother's desertion or complaints regarding the care of the children. On 31.10.74 the three children were admitted to care at the request of their maternal grandmother Miss Ballantyne when Mrs. Andrews deserted the children. They were placed in St. Francis Children's Home, Dundee. Mrs. Andrews meantime had gone to live in Manchester where she was cohabiting with a Mr. [REDACTED]

On 8.1.75 at a Children's Hearing Supervision Orders were made on all three children naming St. Francis as their place of residence. During the following year neither parent made much effort to get a home together and Mr. Andrews set up home with another woman who subsequently produced his child. Despite efforts by Social Work Department to help Mrs. Andrews little change occurred and the supervision orders were continued in December 1975 and again in November 1976. Efforts were made to find foster parents for these children but it proved impossible to find a family able to take three children of their age range.

Following a review Hearing in October 1977 Mrs. Andrews obtained the tenancy of a house in the Whitfield area and built up her contacts with the children. By February 1978 they were spending weekends there with their mother and at a Children's Hearing on 5.4.78 the Supervision Orders were varied to allow the children to return home. Mrs. Andrews had at this point established a relationship with a man referred to by the children as 'Uncle Graham'. I understand that the possibility of marriage was discussed although Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were not divorced until November 1978. While it was acknowledged that Mrs. Andrews had made some progress in keeping a home together for David, Helen and Sharon it was decided to continue the Supervision Orders at a review Hearing on 7.3.79.

Within a few weeks of this Hearing Miss Ballantyne, maternal grandmother contacted Social Work Department to complain that Mrs. Andrews had become involved with a man by the name of [REDACTED] and consequently was spending less and less time with her children. Without informing Social Work Department Mrs. Andrews moved with her children to Mr. [REDACTED] home. However, the relationship appears to have been unstable and in April 1979 the three children spent four days in care following an incident when Mrs. Andrews was assaulted by Mr. [REDACTED]. The social worker requested a Children's Panel and recommended readmission to care because of the instability of the home situation. At the Hearing on 9.5.79 the Panel decided to place the children with their grandmother Miss Ballantyne for a short period, to afford Mrs. Andrews the opportunity to demonstrate her intention of providing a stable environment for the children. She did not take up this opportunity and on 6.6.79 despite reservations about Miss Ballantyne's ability to cope with them the Supervision Orders were continued to allow the children to remain with their grandmother. Miss Ballantyne was allocated a larger house and a family helper was introduced to offer additional support.

Following Miss Ballantyne's admission to hospital in March 1980 the children were placed in temporary foster care. Shortly after they returned to her, Miss Ballantyne admitted she could not cope and was finding discipline a problem. The children were admitted to Carolina House on 24.3.80 and have remained there. Efforts to find foster parents for the children individually or as a family group have so far been unsuccessful.

Their/

Their mother currently resides in Manchester and visits the children very infrequently. Indications are that she has no intention of making any long term commitment to her children. Mr. Andrews has no contact with Social Work Department and despite living in Dundee makes little effort to keep in touch with his children. Like Mrs. Andrews he has made no effort to provide a home for his children. Their grandmother Miss Ballantyne sees the children regularly but is not able to provide a home for them.

It seems likely that these three children will remain in care until they are able to live independently. Since their admission they have continued to attend Hearings and the Supervision Orders were last renewed on 2.2.83. Given that the children are likely to remain in care I feel that the Assumption of Parental Rights would best serve their needs.
