Dear Sirs

UK General Data Protection Regulation as supplemented by the Data Protection Act 2018 (GDPR)
Article 15 of the UK GDPR – Right of Access

Thank you for your request to exercise the above right of your client, John Cavanagh contained within the UK GDPR received by the Council on 15 April 2026 in which you ask for a copy of the following personal data:

All records held by Social Work Resources in relation to your client, John Cavanagh

As requested, please find attached information held regarding your client, John Cavanagh.

The Council is withholding some of this information from your client because your client's right of access has been restricted in relation to that information.

Your clients right of access is restricted where we are unable to comply with the request because to do so would mean disclosing the personal data of a third party, where we do not have their consent and, in all the circumstances, it would be unreasonable to give you that third party's personal data (paragraph 16 of Schedule 2 of the Data Protection Act 2018).

Application to court

In addition to your right to complain to the DPO and/or the Information Commissioner, you can apply to court for it to determine whether the Council has, in the way that it has handled or responded to your request, has infringed your right of access. If the court decides that the Council has done so, it may order it, in order to ensure that it does comply with your right, to

- take steps specified in the order or
- refrain from taking steps specified in the order.

You should take your own independent legal advice about going to court.

Yours sincerely
