Good morning,

Thank you for your previous email; we note its contents.

We are unable to provide further ID from our client that highlights his date of birth. A copy of our client's ID was submitted with the initial DSAR request, together with the signed Form of Authority.

We appreciate that your internal policies may request multiple forms of identification. However, this is not a requirement under the Data Protection Act 2018 or the UK GDPR. The ICO guidance is also clear that request for additional identification must be necessary, reasonable, and proportionate in the circumstances.

The documentation we have already provided is sufficient in verifying our client's identity and our authority to act on their behalf. There can be no reasonable doubt as to our client's identity based on the evidence provided.

Accordingly, we expect the dsar to be progressed without further delay and for all requested information and documents within your control to be disclosed within the applicable statutory timescales.

We look forward to hearing from you in due course.

Kind regards,

James
