SUPPLEMENTARY PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Re: Andrew Shaw.
21/04/1967.

Our Ref. No:
Case Ref. No: 9700019549.

At the request of the Sheriff Clerk Depute, Hamilton, I Doctor Isobel Campbell, Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist from Hartwoodhill Hospital examined Andrew Shaw at Ward 28, Hartwoodhill Hospital on the 24th July 1997 for the purpose of preparing a Psychiatric Report. I have been his Responsible Medical Officer for Andrew Shaw since his transfer from H.M.P. Barlinnie on the 10th January 1997. He is currently detained in terms of Section 52 of the Criminal Procedures (Scotland) Act 1995 and is also subject to a Probation Order with psychiatric treatment being a condition. I am recognised in terms of Section 20 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act 1984 as having special experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorder. This Report is supplementary to those previously prepared by me dated the 13th January 1997, 26th February 1997, 26th March 1997 and the 12th May 1997 and should be considered in conjunction with these.

Circumstances of Transfer from H.M.P. Barlinnie: Mr Shaw was transferred to Hartwoodhill Hospital initially in terms of Section 70 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act 1984. During the remand period in H.M.P. Barlinnie he had been behaving in a bizarre manner. He was weepy, he admitted to auditory hallucinations and he had paranoid delusions that the food he was offered was contaminated. The initial diagnosis was of Schizophrenia and it was felt that he should be transferred to hospital for his own safety. Following transfer to Hartwoodhill Hospital the paranoid symptoms improved and it became apparent that he did not in fact suffer from Schizophrenic Illness. He did however describe pseudo-hallucinations in the form of voices and he started to talk about the traumatic experiences of his childhood. I have continued to see him on a weekly basis for counselling sessions during the time that he has been in hospital and he has been able to use this contact productively. He is a man who has enormous difficulties establishing trust with others because of his background and it has been a major step forward for him to be able to disclose the events of his childhood. He has also continued to have regular contact with his Probation Officer, Maureen Patterson during the time that he has been an In-Patient in Hartwoodhill Hospital.

During much of the time that he has been in hospital he has been allowed to move within the grounds without escort. However, when he was no longer subject to any Remand Orders and was only subject to the Probation Order he was allowed a day visit home. The day visit was extended to an overnight pass at his request and the following day Mr Shaw was charged by the police with driving while disqualified. These charges have not yet been heard. Mr Shaw denies the charges. Over the last 3 months he therefore has had only escorted parole within the grounds.

Family History: He has maintained contact with his family, mainly by telephone. However, recently his brother and sister-in-law from Northern Ireland travelled over the Scotland specifically for the purpose of seeing Andrew Shaw and during this visit his father and his eldest brother also attended. This was a significant event for Mr Shaw and he perceived it as the family acknowledging his emotional distress and also being prepared to consider in what way they had contributed to his difficulties. He has never been able to reveal to the family the events which occurred after his mother's death when he became the victim of sustained abuse over a period of 2 years. During that period in his life he therefore had experienced the sudden death of his mother to whom he was extremely close, his father then developed a serious alcohol problem which effectively made his unavailable for his son either in terms of emotionally or physically. Having previously had a great deal of contact with his mother's extended family this also ceased and he was effectively very isolated and vulnerable. In this set of circumstances he was unable to tell anyone what was happening to him. Cars came to represent for him an object of comfort, security and predictability in contrast to the people around him who had failed him or abused him. Cars became his recourse in times of distress, in times of anger. As a result of crashing a car he was placed in children's home where the source of his difficulties was not recognised and he was once again allowed to drive cars when he was upset, which reinforced the link that cars were a source of emotional security and comfort in place of people.

Not surprisingly he struggled to relate to others and as a result of his repeated car offending he ended up spending much of his young adult life in custody. There is no history of other offending and latterly his offences have related to driving cars for which he has paid rather than stealing cars. His is of course now in an extremely difficult situation where the previous disqualifications make it impossible for him to drive legally.

Drug and Alcohol History: He has no history of drug or alcohol abuse

Cont/...

Andrew Shaw.
Supplementary Psychiatric Report - 29/7/97.

Mental State Examination: He is a heavily built man who looks younger than his 30 years. Eye contact is variable and when distressed he will avoid eye contact and be fairly unforthcoming at the start of an interview. He is however an articulate and intelligent man with a lively sense of humour, who when relaxed can relate in a socially appropriate way. He appears more able to tolerate uncomfortable emotions rather than either refusing to discuss these or diverting off to the safe topic of cars. He has recently had to deal with my impending departure which he has found very difficult

Conclusions and Recommendations: This man has a long history of road traffic offences. His behaviour has a compulsive quality about it and he uses driving as a means of dealing with feelings of distress. Cars represent for him a security and sanctuary which he has found lacking in human relationships and he has found them something which he can exert some control over as opposed to the people in his life. He recognises the need to change the pattern and the self destructiveness of his behaviour. He is making constructive plans for the future in terms of hoping to attend a college course. His treatment will be continued by my successor and he will continue to have contact with his Probation Officer, Maureen Patterson. Custodial disposals in the past have conferred little benefit and have not in any way changed his behaviour. Although the outcome of counselling cannot be guaranteed, I firmly believe it offers him the best possible opportunity to change his entrenched pattern of offending behaviour.

I declare on Soul and Conscience that this Report is a true Report. I am not related to the Defendant nor do I have any pecuniary interest in his disposal.

PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Re: Andrew Shaw.
21/04/1967.

Our Ref. No:
Case Ref. No: 97705853/JM.

At the request of Mr Russell, Procurator Fiscal Depute, Hamilton, I Doctor Isobel Campbell, Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist from Hartwoodhill Hospital examined Andrew Shaw at H.M.P. Barlinnie on the 9th May 1997 for the purpose of preparing a Psychiatric Report. I have previous knowledge of Andrew Shaw having been his Responsible Medical Officer at Hartwoodhill Hospital from the 10th January 1997 until the time of his arrest. I am recognised in terms of Section 20 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act 1984 as having special experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorder. I have been able to peruse a copy of the charges and a copy of the Police Summary.

The Charges: Andrew Shaw is charged with driving a car while disqualified, driving without insurance, taking a car without the owner's consent and breaching Bail. Andrew Shaw is capable of understanding the charges against him. He is capable of differentiating between a plea of guilty and not guilty. He has a Solicitor with whom he has consulted and is in my professional opinion capable of instructing Counsel and following Court proceedings.

Psychiatric Background to the Offences: As previously indicated Andrew Shaw was transferred to Hartwoodhill Hospital from H.M.P. Barlinnie on the 10th January 1997. He was at that time detained in terms of Section 70 of the Mental Health (Scotland) Act 1984.

Circumstances of Transfer from H.M.P. Barlinnie: I was contacted by Dr. Louise Ramsay, Senior Registrar from the Douglas Inch Centre regarding Mr Shaw who had caused great concern in the prison system. While on remand he was weepy, preoccupied and appeared to be responding to hallucinations and rocking backwards and forwards. He expressed paranoid ideation regarding food which he was convinced had been contaminated by prison staff. He described auditory hallucinations. He was reluctant to comply with medication in prison and it was felt that he should be transferred to hospital immediately for his own safety.

In Ward 28 florid symptoms of Psychosis subsided. However, Andrew Shaw is a very disturbed man who has experienced severe childhood trauma which is in my view a significant factor in his offending behaviour, and therefore he remained in hospital subject to Section 70 and I attempted to work with him in a psycho-therapeutic way. He was subsequently placed on Probation with psychiatric treatment as a condition on the 14th April 1997 and became detained in terms of Section 230 of the Criminal Procedures (Scotland) Act 1995. He remained a patient in Ward 28.

He was allowed leave from hospital on the 2nd May 1997 in order to attend the Department of Health and Social Security for an examination regarding his Benefit's claim. Mrs Higgins, who is a personal friend of the accused, telephoned the ward indicating that his business at the DSS had taken considerably longer than anticipated and requested that he be allowed an overnight pass. This was agreed with the condition that he returned by 12 midday on the 3rd May 1997.

Past Psychiatric History: I have previous knowledge of Andrew Shaw having examined him in 1995 for the purpose if preparing a Psychiatric Report. I saw him on 2 occasions and recommend that he attend my Out Patient Clinic as a condition of Probation, however he failed to do so.

Background to the Alleged Offences: Andrew Shaw has a long history of driving convictions. He first stole and crashed a car when he was still of primary school age. He was placed in List D School as a result of repeated taking and driving away offences. He subsequently graduated to Young Offenders and then adult prison. Much of his adult life has been spent in custody as a result of car convictions. His car offending has a compulsive quality and serves for him the purpose of relieving feelings of emotional discomfort. When distressed, upset, depressed or angry he will take a car. He also uses cars as a place of solace and comfort and he has frequently slept in cars.

Accused's Account of the Alleged Offences: Andrew Shaw admits to being in the car but denies that the car was stolen. He also denies driving the car.

Cont/...

Andrew Shaw.
Psychiatric Report - 12/5/97.

Family History: His family history is significant in that his mother died when he was aged 8 years. His father subsequently developed alcohol problems which continue to the present time. Andrew Shaw was much younger than his 3 older brothers and as a result there was no support available from them. There is a family history of mental illness in that one brother has recently been treated in psychiatric hospital following a suicide attempt and is now on anti-depressant medication.

Personal History: He is the youngest of 4 brothers. There is no history of abnormality of pregnancy or delivery so far as he is aware. He describes a happy upbringing until his mother's sudden death. He appears to have spent a good deal of time in her company and with members of her family and was understandably devastated by her loss. He describes persistently grieving for her and going on a regular basis to visit her grave where he would talk to her. He appears from his account to have been virtually left to fend for himself following his mother's death. His father failed to provide for him either emotional or physical protection. His situation was considerably worsened when his older brother returned to the family home and both physically and emotionally abused him, blaming him for his mother's death, indicating that it was because she was aged 41 years old when Andrew Shaw was born that she died prematurely. Andrew Shaw was young enough and vulnerable enough to believe his brother's accusations and this added considerably to his distress.

He stole and crashed a car belonging to one of his brothers and subsequent to this was sent to List D School. The family do not appear to have maintained much contact with him while he was in List D School and as previously indicated he graduated from there to serving repeated sentences in initially Young Offenders and then adult prison. He is now aged 29 years and indicates to me that he has spent 14 years in custody in a variety of institutions. All his offences have been car offences with one exception which he is presently appealing. From his own account he has not offended other than with regard to cars.

Social History: As a result of his tragic early life he has had great difficulty maintaining adult relationships. He finds it difficult to tolerate closeness and difficult to establish trust. He has never married and has found it difficult to be involved in long term relationships, finding it difficult to cope with the emotional demands.

Drug and Alcohol History: He has no history of excessive use of alcohol nor of use of illicit substances. He is on no prescribed medication at the present time.

Progress in Psychiatric Hospital: At the time of his initial transfer from H.M.P. Barlinnie, Andrew Shaw was felt to be suffering from psychotic illness, in particular Schizophrenia.

Following transfer it became apparent that he was not suffering from a process Schizophrenic Illness, although it would appear likely that he had developed a Psychogenic Psychosis in the prison. Psychogenic Psychosis is a stress induced psychotic breakdown which resolves rapidly when a person is removed from the stressful situation.

In the ward he continued to display distress in one to one interviews, frequently rocking backwards and forwards in a fairly regressed way. His facial expression was predominantly sad and his conversation often sparse. He was deeply pessimistic about the future.

For the first time in his contact with Psychiatric Services he has started to talk in detail about his traumatic childhood experiences. Because of his great difficulties trusting others, it had previously been impossible for Mr Shaw to avail himself of any counselling offered. He was clear that 2 years ago he was unable to undertake any therapeutic work when the opportunity was offered because he feared it would be overwhelming for him. However, being so unwell in January 1997 brought home to him the need to address issues from his past of which there are many.

Mental State Examination: He was a well built young man who was clearly sedated with the medication which he had been prescribed in prison. Initially he appeared quite slowed by the medication but he gradually became more responsive as the interview proceeded.

Mood: Mood was low and he indicated that he had had thoughts of committing suicide because of his feelings of overwhelming hopelessness.

Thought Content: He denied experiencing auditory hallucinations during this period of remand. However, he has long standing symptoms of pseudo hallucinations whereby he hears the voice of his deceased mother weeping. He also hears the voice of another person which is of emotional significance for him and which he recognises. He denied delusions of reference and he has no delusions of thought control and no delusions of passivity. He expresssed considerable suspiciousness regarding others but these ideas were not of delusional intensity.

Memory: His short term memory was unimpaired on testing.

Orientation: He was orientated in time, place and person.

Concentration: Concentration was reasonable on testing.

General Knowledge: General knowledge was good and he is of above average intelligence.

Conclusions and Recommendations:

1. Andrew Shaw is sane and fit to plead.

2. He has a cluster of psychiatric symptoms which fit the recognised pattern of those who have been subjected to severe trauma in childhood.

3. Cont/..

3. His mental condition is such that he requires and is likely to benefit from prolonged counselling. He has shown great willingness to work in therapy and I am convinced that he will continue to co-operate if given the opportunity to do so.

4. If he remains in prison it is extremely likely that he will once again decompensate into the Psychotic State which was present in January 1997. Therefore I respectfully recommend to the Court that he be dealt with in terms of Section 52 of the Criminal Procedures (Scotland) Act 1995. I confirm that a bed will be made available in Ward 28, Hartwoodhill Hospital.

I declare on Soul and Conscience that this Report is a true Report. I am not related to the Defendant nor do I have any pecuniary interest in his disposal.

Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist.

REASON FOR CUSTODY
As the NOW ACCUSED SHAW is a persistent offender his five disqualifications and having breached his probation and licence he has been detained in custody pending his appearance at Hamilton Sheriff Court on Tuesday 6 May 1997.

DESCRIPTION OF LOCUS
The locus of Charge 1 is the roadway outside the complainer witness Ona Higgins, home address at No. 26 Draffan Road, Netherburn which is situated in a local council housing estate and is unclassified.
The locus of Charges 2 and 3 is Ashgillhead Road, Ashgill which runs generally SOUTH to NORTH and is a C classified road. It is subject to a 30 miles per hour speed limit. On the WEST side of Ashgillhead Road at its junction with Ayr Road is Fairview Garden Centre which is set off the roadway. There is a car park to the front and a number of greenhouses and outbuildings making up the garden centre. It is bounded by a 5 foot perimeter fence.

DESCRIPTION OF EVENTS
The complainer, witness Ona Higgins, is the owner of the Vauxhall Senator Motor Vehicle Regd. Mark B900 CGB and she is aware that the ACCUSED SHAW who is a friend of her son witness Mark Higgins, is a disqualified driver.
The complainer left the Vauxhall Senator Motor Vehicle Regd. Mark B900 CGB parked up outside her home on Saturday 3 May 1997 and left to go shopping. The keys for the car are kept within the house.
About 1300 hours same day, an anonymous telephone call was received at Larkhall Police Office, stating that the ACCUSED SHAW, whom they knew to be disqualified, was driving a Vauxhall Senator Motor Vehicle Regd. Mark B900 CGB.
A/.....

A look-out was broadcast over Police radio to this effect.
About 1315 hours same day the Police witness Harvey, who was alone, was on uniform mobile patrol on Netherburn Road, Ashgill, when she observed the aforementioned motor vehicle pass her in the opposite direction.
She clearly saw the ACCUSED driving the vehicle and at this time he was accompanied by two males, witnesses Higgins and Nicholls.
The Police witness Harvey immediately broadcast her observations over the radio and required assistance.
The Police witness turned the Police vehicle and caught up with the vehicle (D900 CGB driven by the ACCUSED SHAW) on Ashgillhead road, Ashgill and followed the vehicle into the car park of Fairview Garden Centre.
The ACCUSED SHAW was still driving the vehicle and after parking the vehicle entered the garden centre along with the witnesses Nicholls and Higgins.
On confronting the ACCUSED about the Police witness Harvey's observations, he made off across fields and into Wilson's Bus garage where he went to ground.

The Police witness Harvey was joined by other Officers and a search of the area was conducted.
The Police witnesses Paterson and Forrest thereafter found the ACCUSED hiding on the top deck of one of the buses in the yard. He was hiding under a back seat on the upper deck.
ACCUSED was thereafter arrested and conveyed to Hamilton Police Office where his details were entered into the Prisoner Processing by PS Gerard Glacken and Arrest Form completed.
The ACCUSED was informed he was being detained in custody pending his appearance at Hamilton Sheriff Court on Tuesday 6 May 1997.
Police witnesses Sinclair and Boyle noted the statements of the witnesses Higgins and Nicholls.
They both speak to the ACCUSED SHAW being the driver of the aforesaid motor vehicle as described.

CAUTION AND CHARGE/REPLY
About 1250 hours on Sunday 4 May 1997 the Police witness Harvey cautioned and charged the ACCUSED as libelled whilst in the presence of the Police witness Morrison within Hamilton Police Office. He made no reply to any of the charges.

IDENTIFICATION OF ACCUSED
The ACCUSED SHAW can be identified by all the witnesses involved.
