Important notice:

You need a TV Licence to watch live TV or BBC iPlayer.

Dear Sir/Madam,

We contacted you recently to confirm if you need a TV Licence. We know viewing habits can change and would like to remind you that it is against the law for anyone at this address to watch live TV without a licence. On any device. You also need a TV Licence to be covered for everything on BBC iPlayer.

If you or anyone in your household does any of the below, you need to buy a TV Licence to:

- Watch or record live TV on any channel, not just the BBC
- Watch or record live TV on any pay TV service. Like Sky, Virgin Media or BT
- Watch live TV on streaming services. Like YouTube, Channel 4, Amazon Prime Video, or any international channels
- Be covered for everything on BBC iPlayer

If your circumstances haven't changed, there's no need to do anything. However, if you're watching TV without a licence, you could be fined up to £1,000* plus any legal costs and/or compensation. To check if you are breaking the law, please visit tvl.co.uk/review

Yours faithfully,

Louise Short
Customer Service Director

* The largest fine in Guernsey is £2,000.
